The Theme of the Conference:

Sant Ravidas ((1377-1527 C.E.) occupies a significant place in the Bhakti Movement and Indian socio-cultural history. He was a great saint, philosopher, poet, and social reformer who challenged caste discrimination and advocated equality, fraternity, human dignity, and spiritual freedom. His teaching emphasized devotion, ethical conduct, social harmony and the establishment of an egalitarian society symbolized through his concept of "Begampura"—a city free from sorrow, inequality and oppression.

In the contemporary era, when societies continue to face challenges of discrimination, social exclusion, and inequality, the teachings of Sant Ravidas provide valuable guidance for building an inclusive and just social order. His ideas resonate strongly with constitutional values such as justice, liberty, equality, and fraternity.

The proposed National Seminar seeks to bring together scholars, researchers, policymakers, social activists, and students to discuss and analyze the philosophical, literary, social, and political dimensions of Sant Ravidas's thought and their relevance in present-era.
