Our college is always ahead in quality and social commitment.

Deendayal Research Institute, Krishi Vigyan Kendra (KVK) Ambajogai comes under the 'Educational Institution' approach, where the rural people are educated on agriculture and allied fields at the KVK campus and in the villages. The KVK is devoted to preparing farmers, farm women and young farmers for scientific farming. Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Ambajogai (Maharashtra) has made great strides in the transfer of new technologies, while refining traditional ones to suit the changing climate of the district. Promotion of cereals, pulses, oilseed, vegetable, spices and fruits like mango and pomegranate; soil test based application of nutrients and production of bio-agents, seeds & saplings, mechanization through custom hiring and women empowerment are few of the special achievements of this KVK. This center has proved that even small unit owners/farmers can generate sufficient income through the adoption of a resource-based farming system model and contribute to the nation's capital formation. These models are examples of how constructive programs can be of great help in the development of our nation.
